Petroleum items exports down 22% on month in April

CRUDE BASKET

Source: Kpler. *Total figures also include exports to other countries

ARUNIMA BHARADWAJ New Delhi, May 1

INDIA'S EXPORT OF petroleum products in April declined by 22% to 1.12 million barrels per day (bpd) from 1.44 million bpd in March, according to data from global real-time data and analytics provider Kpler. On a year-on-year basis, exports were down over 7% from 1.20 million bpd in April 2024.

The United Arab Emirates, Singapore, and the Netherlands remained the top destinations for India's petroleum product exports last month. However, shipments to all three countries saw a decline in April. Exports to the UAE dropped by 33% to 114 million bpd from 170 million bpd in March. Similarly, exports to Singapore fell 17% to 107 million bpd, while those to the Netherlands edged down 4% to 120 million bpd over the same period.

"Diesel continued to dominate India's clean product exports, with the United Arab Emirates, Singapore, and East Africa emerging as the top destinations, while gasoline volumes primarily flowed toward Malaysia and Indonesia," said Sumit Ritola, lead research analyst, refining and modeling at Kpler.

India mainly exports petroleum products to countries in Europe and Asia. The country has grown into a significant fuel supplier for Europe in recent months, following the region's boycott of Russian energy supplies after the Ukraine invasion. Looking ahead, Kpler expects India's refined product exports to "stay resilient if not super strong," supported by strong refining margins.

"We anticipate a temporary decline in crude processing volumes of around 250,000 bpd in the second quarter of 2025, as refiners such as Reliance Industries, Indian Oil Corporation, and Mangalore Refinery and Petrochemicals commence maintenance," Ritola said. "However, export volumes are expected to remain strong, even if they do not match the February peak."

A more substantial increase in crude processing is expected toward late 2025 or into 2026, as several brownfield expansions currently underway — at Koyali, Barauni, and Pampat — begin to come online.

India exports a range of goods via the Red Sea, including petroleum products. However, geopolitical tensions in the region have led to traffic being rerouted around the Cape of Good Hope, adding up to ten days to Asia-Europe shipping times and driving up fuel costs, the government previously noted.

While exports to traditional destinations declined last month, India's refined petroleum exports to the US rose sharply by 53% to 89,000 bpd in April.

The two countries recently agreed to strengthen bilateral energy trade.

Although the US imposed reciprocal tariffs of 26% on Indian goods — certain categories — including energy — and select minerals — have been exempted. Industry stakeholders say these exemptions offer relief to energy markets, and Indian petroleum exports are likely to see only a muted impact.

Green hydrogen: Govt expands carbon offset rules

AGGAM WALLA New Delhi, May 1

TO BOOST INDIA'S green hydrogen exports and encourage energy-intensive sectors to adopt the emerging fuel, the Centre has introduced a certification scheme under the National Green Hydrogen Mission and notified rules for claiming emission offsets under the Carbon Credit Trading Scheme (CCTS).

Union minister of new and renewable energy Pralhad Joshi on April 29 launched a scheme to measure, monitor, report, verify on-site, and certify green hydrogen based on a standard introduced by the ministry in 2023.

"This will help to ensure that the hydrogen produced in India truly qualifies as green. A lot of greenwashing tends to happen these days, which is why certification is most important. With

UPDATED NORMS

Carbon Credit Trading Scheme was launched on Apr 29

The scheme aims to measure, monitor, report, verify on-site, and certify green hydrogen

CCTS does not yet include sectors like steel, refineries, and shipping

It applies to green hydrogen production from electrolysis or conversion of biomass the certification in place, our green hydrogen will carry a mark of quality and credibility, making it globally desirable and export-ready," Joshi said.

On April 27, the Bureau of Energy Efficiency (BEE), nodal agency for the Green Hydrogen Certification Scheme, also announced an offset mechanism for hard-to-abate sectors using green hydrogen under CCTS, to allow them to earn and trade credits.

While CCTS does not yet include sectors like steel, refineries, and shipping, where there is a use case for switching to green hydrogen, the latest guidelines will provide industry greater clarity on compliance before the ambit of CCTS eventually widens.

In 2023, the ministry of new and renewable energy introduced a green hydrogen standard, capping emissions at 2 kg of CO<sub>2</sub> per kg of hydrogen produced. The certification scheme, based on the standard, applies only to green hydrogen production from electrolysis or conversion of biomass.

With the scheme in place, the export appeal of Indian green hydrogen is likely to increase. At the launch, Joshi said India has signed an agreement with Japan to supply over 400,000 tonne of green hydrogen derivatives like green ammonia. The heads of terms (HoT) for the cross-border supply of green ammonia to Japan were signed in August last year.

Still, high production costs remain a hurdle. In March, the Parliament's Standing Committee on Energy noted that "the current cost of production of green hydrogen is quite high," and called for green hydrogen hubs to be located in regions rich in renewable energy, water, and proximity to demand centres to be economically viable.

For exports, the government has identified Kandla, Paradip, and Tuticorin — all with international ports — as key hubs for green hydrogen production.

"In 2012-13, the cost of solar energy was ₹12 per unit; today it's around ₹2," Joshi said. "What made this possible? Scale, skill, and speed. Green hydrogen will follow the same path."

At the launch of the green hydrogen certification scheme, Saurabh Diddi, director of BEE, emphasised the importance of ensuring transparency, authenticity, and accountability in green hydrogen production. Diddi also said the certification scheme "will enhance investor confidence and enable producers to access carbon credits."

On April 27, the BEE released a methodology for estimating carbon offsets from green hydrogen produced via electrolysis.

Prices of jet fuel, LPG cut

FE BUREAU New Delhi, May 1

THE OIL MARKETING companies (OMCs) on Thursday slashed jet fuel prices by 4.4%, marking the second significant cut within a month.

Additionally, the price of commercial LPG was reduced by ₹14.50 per cylinder, in alignment with international benchmarks.

The price of Aviation Turbine Fuel (ATF) was reduced by ₹3,954.38 per kilolitre, bringing it down to ₹8,486.80 per kil in Delhi.

Earlier, the OMCs had reduced ATF prices by 6.15%, or ₹5,870.54 per kl, effective April 1. These reductions have effectively offset the price increases that occurred earlier this year.
